“ Arley was married one time through his life and it was to me and I feel honored to be his one and only wife . We were married from 1977 to 1997 . I always told him he would not marry anyone else cause he never loved them as much as he did me . My girls say it's because he learned his lesson. Lol . RIP Arley . You was a good husband , father , provider and member of the community. He did things like finish the sheet rock in a church at no charge for his labor because it was a church . He would help anyone he could . Two tour Vietnam Veteran . Love you Arley Ray Rose .

“ To the man who was my dad but didn't have to be. You stood in the place another left behind abs said you would love me & be mine.
You taught me so many things that you didn't even know, you wanted to be the with us more but the job to provide demanded you go
I've seen the pain behind your eyes, I've seen the guilt you let consume you inside. I've seen the compassion you've shown to others even when you tried to pretend you care less but I know how many you honestly blessed.
I've seen the tears only once in my life, I thought my heart would stop. I was little when your mother(granny) died and I didn't know till then that daddy's cried.
I remember you teaching me how to ride a bike, practicing my pitching & catching for ball. I remember you never allowed my sister and I to make fun of others or disrespect our elders. You basically taught us to treat the janitor with the same respect as the c.e.o. for one is not betttt than the other, it takes all walks of life to make it flow.
I wish I could have gotten it right and made you proud cause you never gave up on me once even when you should have but if my love could make up for all the wrong just know that the would be so much right for you cause my love for you is so strong. So THANK YOU, ARLEY RAY ROSE FOE BEING MY DAD AND MAKING ME FEEL LIKE I BELONG.
